

From the BAIS Chaplain

All of us have walls in our lives that we build to protect ourselves from the potential pain of letting others get too close or know too much about us. These walls can be healthy as long as we allow the right people in. We were all created to love and be loved and to know and be known and that cannot happen if no one gets beyond our walls.

When it comes to matters of faith we often build walls as well. These walls can be very unhealthy and create a false sense of security and isolate us from others. They often serve to protect our private faith from becoming public knowledge. Our faith was never meant for isolation but rather to be shared with others through our expressions of love and service.

On March 16-20 BAIS students will serve others all over the city through an annual BAIS initiative called Week Without Walls (WWW). This is more than just an impactful week of ministry to our community. It is an opportunity to cultivate a heart of service in our students as they share God's truth through word and action. To say it another way we hope that this Week Without Walls will help students to live a Life Without Walls when it comes to their faith.

I want to say thank you to every parent for partnering with us to see this year's WWW be successful. Your assistance with transportation needs for our groups has been amazing and it is very much appreciated. If you would like to assist with providing transportation and have not yet committed or confirmed, please contact Mrs. Wongkar at kellywongkar@baisedu.org as soon as possible. I would also like to request that you assist us by making sure that your students are here on time every day during WWW. Because of the complexity of arranging transportation and coordinating with community organizations we cannot hold cars to wait on late students to arrive. We appreciate your help in this. Most importantly we would like to ask for your prayer support. Someone once said, "when we work, we work but when we pray, God
