

From the School Leadership Team

Teachers at BAIS are always striving to serve our students and improve our school! During a discussion about providing individual tutoring time and one-on-one assistance to our students, the teachers were thinking about building a period a couple times a week to support students, re-takes, and general pastoral care. From that idea grew an evaluation of the school's current schedule and how we can make it better for students and families. Please see the bulleted list for the benefits of the new schedule for the 2021-2022 school year.

The new schedule:

- Allows for extended day classes to happen in the morning (MS Language, studio music and art, etc).
- Gives teachers and students a built in tutoring and reassessment time at the end of the day.
- Makes every Wednesday a "late-start" day (more consistent schedule).
- Will allow for better staggered arrival - later start time for Secondary.
- Gives elementary teachers more flexibility and more time to really focus on areas of need.
- Gives elementary teachers opportunities for more hands-on learning
- Gives LE a full 45 minute foreign language class

And so much more! For more information please watch the video linked here!

From the Elementary Principal

As our final few students finish their MAP tests for this term, our team has begun to look at the data these tests have provided. While many have grown and shown high achievement, it was understood ahead of time that some students' scores would reflect the glaring challenges of a turbulent year.

At BAIS, we align with current research that points to elementary students learning best via in-person, experiential, hands-on instruction. The 2020-2021 school year has not afforded much opportunity for this type of learning. We believe that standardized tests in an extremely non-standard year truly do not give us a clear picture of our elementary students' abilities.

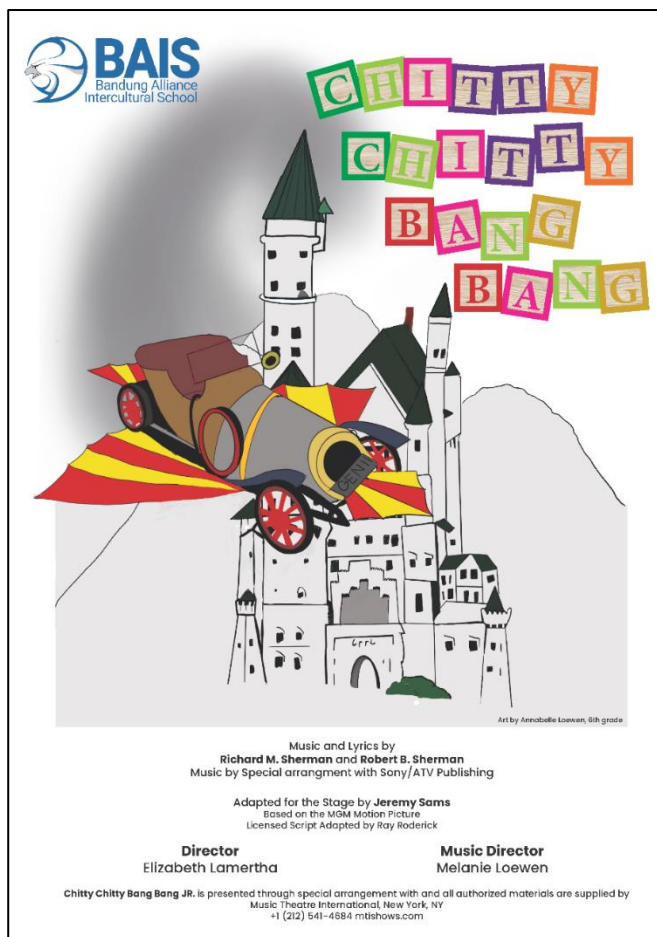

Our teachers and administrators (as well as those from schools around the globe) are taking these factors into consideration as we analyze our scores. We consider MAP testing to be quite important, yet view it as one piece of the learning experience at BAIS. Your child's MAP scores will be sent along with this year's final report card, along with helpful information about how to interpret those scores.

In Partnership,
Mr. Cantrall
